Title	London's Dave Andrews prepares for 10,000 mile charity road trip
Body	Dave Andrews, from London's structures team, and four colleagues are taking part in the infamous Mongol Rally next month. The rally begins in Goodwood and ends in Ulaan Bataar, Mongolia and will take around five weeks to complete. The team will travel through 16 countries along the way encountering a vast range of terrain, including the Altai Mountains and the tyre-swallowing sands of the Gobi Desert. As an added challenge all 500 teams will be travelling in the cheapest cars available to them. Dave's team will be driving an ex-NHS ambulance which will be donated to the local hospital once they arrive with enough spare parts and medical equipment to enable it to provide an ongoing service to the Ulaan Bataar hospitals. The team are raising money for Oxford based charity Helen and Douglas House which provides hospice care for children and young adults. On top of donations the team are running a competition to guess the mileage at the end of the race. For information or to donate please contact Dave at david.andrews@burohappold.com The race begins on the 18th July. For regular updates and more info on their trip please visit the team site at www.thedouglascar.com
